SUMMARY

UBO (Université de Bretagne Occidentale) and IRD (Institut de Recherche pour le Développement) organize a workshop on "small-scale fisheries in the South" during two days (June 25th & 26th, 2018) at the European Institute of Marine Studies, Plouzané, France.

The workshop, in French and English, will gather researchers, managers, financing and training institutions dealing with small-scale fisheries.

During these two days, current research in small-scale fisheries in the South and the associated issues for a sustainable development will be discussed through keynote interventions, exchanges on lessons learned from past experiences and on research findings, and participation to social events.

PROGRAM

- Session on "Research on small scale-fisheries"
West Africa research (PREFACE and AWA projects)
